Welcome to the University of Colorado Boulder

—one of only 38 U.S. public research institutions in the Association of American Universities (AAU). Here at CU Boulder, we're all about realizing the positive impacts of new knowledge.

As the flagship university of the state of Colorado, our goal is to inspire all members of our community to reach their full potential through an extraordinary range of globally recognized academic, research and service opportunities. We take pride in helping our students, faculty, staff and partners turn new ideas into productive outcomes that change lives.

This guide will help you get to know our campus, culture, history, achievements and community—including information about the city of Boulder and the surrounding area. Thank you for visiting the University of Colorado Boulder. We hope you enjoy your stay!

CU Boulder's history

THE BEGINNING OF CU BOULDER

Our first building, Old Main, was funded with generous donations from the community and built on land grants from local residents. The land originally was the territory of the Ute, Cheyenne and Arapaho peoples.

1876

1877

GENDER EQUALITY ADVOCATES

The hiring of Mary Rippon, the first woman to teach at a state university, demonstrated our state constitutional charge to educate men and women equally.

1942

WORLD WAR II LANGUAGE SCHOOL

The U.S. Navy Japanese Language School moved from Berkeley to Boulder, where interpreters and translators acquired language skills that served the United States during the war.

CONFERENCE ON WORLD AFFAIRS

For more than 70 years, the conference has featured campus visits by distinguished people, including former first lady Eleanor Roosevelt in 1955.

RALPHIE, OUR MASCOT

Although the buffalo was declared our official mascot in 1934, it wasn't until 1957 that the first live bison was donated to CU Boulder.

GLOBAL CLIMATE SUMMIT

The university co-hosted the inaugural Right Here, Right Now Global Climate Summit with U.N. Human Rights, inviting a worldwide audience to learn about the human rights impact of climate change.

CU BECOMES FOUR CAMPUSES

We went from CU in Boulder to the CU System, with four locations across Colorado: Boulder, Denver, Anschutz (in Aurora) and Colorado Springs. CU Boulder remains the flagship university in the CU System.

1957

1962

1972

2017

2022

SPACE PIONEERS

Our long history in space begins with alumnus M. Scott Carpenter, flying in spacecraft Aurora 7 and becoming the second American to orbit Earth in May 1962.

WORDS OF WISDOM

The Leo Hill Leadership Speaker Series began on campus to allow our students and community members to hear from nationally known leaders, including Robert Gates and Mae Jemison. They share their stories and encourage others to tap into their own unique strengths.

Self-guided tour: Notable places on campus

Ready to check out CU Boulder's beautiful campus? Our self-guided tour highlights some of the university's most notable places.

For reference, our campus map is available on Pages 36–37, or you can choose from one of our two online versions:

- Online map: Explore campus with a searchable and interactive replica of this printed map. Visit colorado.edu/map.
- Virtual tour: Learn more about different spaces and places on campus through our immersive virtual tour. Visit youvisit.com/tour/Colorado.

We start the tour at the CASE building; however, you can begin your self-guided tour at any point along the way.

Each number represents a stop on the tour and is reflected on the campus map.

- 1 The Center for Academic Success and Engagement (CASE, G-5) is new to CU Boulder. This center contains classrooms, offices, study nooks and information about CU Boulder.
- 2 The University Memorial Center (UMC, F-5) is where students can find it all. Filled with restaurants, tables, conference rooms and the book store, the UMC is where students commonly gather to relax, eat and meet friends.
- 3 Old Main (MAIN, D-4) Our first building, Old Main, was built in 1876 with donations from our generous community. Old Main once housed the entire university, including the president, the janitor, the library and all the classrooms. The third floor of this beautiful building is home to the CU Heritage Center—a free center that showcases the history of CU Boulder.

- 4 Macky Auditorium (MCKY, D-4) Built in 1912, Macky Auditorium is one of Colorado's premier concert halls. The 2,047-seat theater hosts classical and popular musical concerts, dance performances, lectures and films. Stop by to see the beautiful interior.
- 5 Norlin Library (LIBR, D-5) The library features a learning commons, a research center, team technology rooms and a coffee shop. Norlin Library also houses the Writing Center, Center for Asian Studies, Faculty Teaching Excellence Program and Honors offices.

HANA
SUSHI BAR

TASTE OF HANA

Has served Boulder for 13 years

Sushi Hana is here to enrich the exquisite food and beverage mix by offering authentic Japanese food in a quick service environment which allows people from all cultures to access and be rewarded with money-worthy eating experience!

Self-guided tour: Notable places on campus

6 The Student Recreation Center (REC, D-6)
The Rec Center was recently renovated and now houses three swimming pools (including an outdoor pool shaped like a buffalo!), an ice arena, a turf gym, 10,000 square feet of strength and cardio space, a climbing gym, six multipurpose wood courts and five fitness studios with more than 90 classes offered weekly.

7 Folsom Field (D-8) Our breathtaking football field is where Ralphie, our live bison mascot, can be seen charging the field at every home football game in the fall. The student section of the stadium faces the Flatirons, so students can enjoy the view of the field as well as the Rockies.

8 Farrand Field (G-7) This grass field features a performance stage and recreational space for students to enjoy. Some of CU Boulder's 24 residence halls frame Farrand Field, including:

9 Willard Hall (G-8) to the southeast, Farrand Hall (G-8) to the east and Baker Hall (F-7) to the northwest.

10 Roser ATLAS building (Alliance for Technology, Learning and Society) (ATLS, F-6) The ATLAS building has facilities for innovative learning, with spaces for information technology classes and research. The building features an auditorium, a 2,700-square-foot black box studio and a 1,000-square-foot production studio. It is here that art, tech and creative thoughts merge.

11 The Visual Arts Complex (VAC, F-5) This complex houses the Department of Art and Art History. It includes resources such as a woodshop, kiln yard, Visual Resources Center and more. It's also home to the CU Art Museum, which is open to all visitors.

This is the end of your tour. We hope you enjoyed your time on campus, and be sure to share your visit experience @FutureBuffs! #ViewsFromCU.

Self-guided tour: Academic buildings

Interested in seeing academic buildings while on the self-guided tour?
Feel free to explore our academic buildings during normal business hours.

-  College of Music: Warner Imig Music Building (MUS, G-6) The recently renovated Warner Imig Music Building is a large complex of practice rooms, faculty studios, offices, ensemble rehearsal areas, seminar facilities and classrooms. Our College of Music not only offers traditional degrees in music, it also provides students with opportunities in music technology and entrepreneurship.
-  School of Education: Fleming Building (FLMG, J-9) The School of Education has moved to a new home in the Fleming Building, with upgraded offices, collaborative and community spaces, new classrooms, and state-of-the-art teaching labs. CU Boulder is home to Colorado's top-ranked school of education (U.S. News & World Report, 2024).
-  College of Media, Communication and Information (CMCI): The Center for Academic Success and Engagement (CASE, G-5) CMCI has offices in the new CASE building and the Armory building (C-3), originally the site of the Colorado National Guard. CMCI was established in 2015, CU Boulder's first new college in more than 50 years.
-  College of Arts and Sciences: Eaton Humanities (HUMN, D-5) The College of Arts and Sciences has the largest number of academic majors. This wide-ranging college has its academic home in Eaton Humanities, which offers state-of-the-art instructional technology, classrooms and offices.
-  College of Engineering and Applied Sciences: The Engineering Center (EC, F-10) We offer top-ranked engineering programs in Colorado and across the Rocky Mountain region, and one of our own civil engineering professors founded the Engineers Without Borders NGO.
-  Leeds School of Business: The Koelbel Building (KOBL, G-10) Our business school is the eighth-oldest in the United States and consistently ranked one of the best in the nation by sources like Bloomberg Businessweek and U.S. News & World Report.
-  Program in Environmental Design: Environmental Design Building (ENVD, F-6) Dedicated to the creation of healthy and sustainable communities, the Program in Environmental Design emphasizes evidence-based practice and experiential learning.

Student life: Housing & involvement

On- and off-campus housing

On-campus housing provides students with a home away from home. Students can find community and support in meeting their academic goals. Residence hall communities are designed primarily for first-year students. There are many residential programs and experiences for students in their academic journey. For more information about on-campus housing, visit colorado.edu/living.

Many students live off-campus after their first year at CU Boulder. Off-Campus Housing & Neighborhood Relations is a great resource for students to find housing, understand lease agreements, learn about city ordinances, discover what legal resources are available and more. Students can easily use Ralphie's List, CU Boulder's online rental database, to help in their housing search. Visit colorado.edu/offcampus to learn more.

Student involvement

Getting involved is a great way for students to meet fellow Buffs, discover new hobbies and interests, and build their own community at CU Boulder. With hundreds of academic, political, social, religious and recreational clubs and events, there are many ways to get involved! There's something for everyone at CU Boulder, whether students are looking for activities that emphasize ethnic or cultural heritage, fraternity and sorority life, political involvement, environmental issues, leadership development, service experiences or school spirit. To learn more, visit colorado.edu/studentaffairs/student-life.

Health and Wellness

CU Boulder students have access to a full range of health and wellness services to support their holistic well-being, including recreation and fitness, medical care, counseling and psychiatric services, peer-to-peer coaching, support groups, advocacy, workshops and more. Explore everything Health and Wellness Services has to offer at: colorado.edu/health.

Safety

One of the university's top goals is to promote a safe, secure and comfortable campus environment for our students. Comprehensive information on safety programs and emergency services is available at colorado.edu/safety.

Diversity and inclusion

CU Boulder embraces the involvement of every student, staff and faculty member. We recognize that a truly diverse community includes people from all ethnic, regional, cultural, economic and religious backgrounds. This also includes first-generation students, people with disabilities, students who are parents, people of all sexual orientations and gender identities, people of different ages and political viewpoints, and many others. For more information, contact the Office of Diversity, Equity and Community Engagement at colorado.edu/dei.

Graduate School

The Graduate School serves as the intellectual crossroads of the university, where we educate the next generation of teachers, scholars and researchers, and develop the fields of knowledge and research where those leaders will pursue their work.

The Graduate School:

- Provides vision and strategic planning for graduate education at CU Boulder
- Advocates for the needs of graduate students and provides supplementary support for their academic and professional development
- Builds community across graduate programs and disciplines

Families

---

New Student & Family Programs is the campus resource for families while their student is at CU Boulder. To aid families in supporting their student's college journey, New Student & Family Programs offers a variety of resources, programs and events for family members. Learn more at colorado.edu/families.

Family events and involvement

- Buff Family Newsletter: The Buff Family Newsletter keeps families updated with all that is happening at CU Boulder, including news, important dates, upcoming events and programs, and more. The newsletter goes out twice a month.
- Letters from Home: This program allows family members to write a letter to their student that is delivered during the third week of school. Letters can be words of encouragement, opportunities for reflection or hopes for their first semester at CU Boulder.
- Scholarships: New Student & Family Programs awards merit-based scholarships to continuing and transfer CU Boulder students.
- Marinus Smith Award: Every year, students and families can nominate CU Boulder faculty and staff who have made a significant impact during their time at CU.
- Family Weekend: This fall tradition is a great opportunity to connect with your student and with CU Boulder staff and faculty.

New Student & Family Programs is available to answer questions and help families navigate the university system. Call 303-492-4431 or email families@colorado.edu.

Beyond campus: The Boulder bucket list

CU Boulder students know this place is special. While our students journey through their college experience, they also make time to get out, have fun and grow their community of friends. We've created a CU Boulder bucket list based on our students' favorite activities. These are a few must-sees and must-dos while at CU Boulder.

Explore our town . . .

In one hour:

Walk the Boulder Creek Path

With beautiful views and people walking, running and biking the path, you'll get a good sense of what this town is about.

In one day:

Hike Chautauqua Park

A local favorite, the hiking trails provide amazing views and great elevation gain. Don't forget to bring lots of water!

Visit the CU Boulder Art Museum

Check out our on-campus art museum, showcasing various collections and exhibitions throughout the year. All art Buffs are welcome, admission is free and open to the public.

Rent a bike and explore the town

You can rent white Boulder BCycle pedal-assist e-bikes all around town. Bike from south Boulder, through campus, into downtown and up to north Boulder to experience the city in full.

In one weekend:

Head to The Hill

We recommend grabbing lunch at The Sink (a Buff fave).

Take a bookstore tour

Boulder has more used-book stores per capita than any other city in the nation. Check out the cool independent bookshops along downtown's Pearl Street.

Hike to Royal Arch

Lace up your boots and make the trek to Royal Arch, a 3.2-mile round-trip hike that gains more than 1,400 vertical feet in that short distance and offers commanding views of Boulder Valley.

Visit the Boulder Museum of Contemporary Art

BMoCA inspires creativity and fosters community through contemporary art. Admission is variable—pay what you want.

Coffee & music

Laughing Goat on Pearl Street offers amazing coffee and tea beverages, as well as free music nearly every night.

Beyond campus: Boulder

Our lively town has something for everyone:

The foodie

Named one of the foodiest towns in America, we have dozens of locally owned restaurants downtown alone—many fit for a college student's budget.

The music fanatic

We have two iconic venues—The Fox Theater on The Hill and the Boulder Theater, located downtown.

The athlete

Run, walk, bike or hike. Boulder is home to athletes in all forms. We have more than 300 miles of dedicated bike routes and host more than 45 running races a year.

The artist

Try out the Boulder Museum of Contemporary Art (BMoCA) or the Dairy Arts Center.

The researcher

We have partnerships with more than 15 federal research labs along the Front Range.

The naturalist

Less than 10 miles from the heart of downtown, Boulder Falls is fed by North Boulder Creek and drops a breathtaking 70 feet. Follow Canyon Boulevard west. The falls are on the right and parking is on the left.

The photographer

Chautauqua Park is a national historic landmark and the site of lectures, concerts and other events throughout the year. Regardless of season, the scenery at Chautauqua is worthy of a photo.

Boulder is the:

Beyond campus: Colorado

Denver

Denver, Colorado's capital, is only 30 miles from Boulder and is one of the fastest growing cities in the United States. Denver has some of the finest museums in the West, including the Denver Art Museum, the Black American West Museum, the Denver Museum of Nature and Science, and the History Colorado Center. Other attractions include the Colorado State Capitol and the Denver Zoo.

For more information, visit denver.org.

Rocky Mountains

Colorado is packed with things to do year-round, whether it's hiking in Rocky Mountain National Park (only 45 miles from Boulder), riding a historic steam locomotive through spectacular mountain canyons, relaxing in natural hot springs, whitewater rafting, fishing, skiing, or enjoying one of the state's many music, art and food festivals.

For more information, visit colorado.com.

Beyond campus: Recreation

Colorado is home to some of the most beautiful mountain locations, perfect for skiing and snowboarding during the winter, and camping, hiking and fishing in the summer.

Hit the slopes

Some of the best downhill skiing and snowboarding in the world is available a relatively short distance from Boulder, including

- Aspen
- Breckenridge
- Copper Mountain
- Eldora
- Snowmass
- Steamboat Springs
- Vail
- Winter Park

Hit the trails

The city of Boulder is surrounded by 45,000 acres of protected open space, and more than 300 miles of bikeways run through town. Hiking, biking and climbing are among the most popular outdoor activities in Boulder. Boulder Creek offers opportunities for kayaking, tubing and fly-fishing.

Something for everyone

For the BIKER

Boulder offers more than 300 miles of dedicated bike routes.

For the CLIMBER

Boulder's Flatirons attract world-class climbers each year.

For the CAMPER

Boulder is 45 minutes from great camping in Rocky Mountain National Park.

For the HIKER

We have more than 145 miles of trails for your hiking pleasure.

For the RUNNER

Boulder County hosts more than 45 running races a year.

For the WALKER

Boulder is one of only 16 Gold-level Walk Friendly Communities in the U.S.

For the SKIER

Boulder is a gateway to many of the 25+ ski resorts in Colorado.

For the ANGLER

South Boulder Creek, just four miles from campus, is well known for its fly-fishing.

Research highlights

Leading the race in space

The Laboratory for Atmospheric and Space Physics (LASP) has been part of CU Boulder since its inception in 1948. Thanks to LASP, CU Boulder is the only university in the world to design, build and launch instruments to all eight planets and Pluto. LASP educates the next generation of space scientists—including by providing opportunities for undergraduates to work as operators for NASA missions—and actively influences the future of space exploration.

CU and Boulder, a billion-dollar biotech destination

The contributions of National Medal of Science awardee Marvin Caruthers and Nobel laureate Tom Cech provide a powerful catalyst for science, engineering and medical disciplines to create high-tech solutions to biomedical problems. Their pioneering work has helped turn the Front Range—anchored by the BioFrontiers Institute and CU Boulder—into a destination for DNA and RNA research, and a hotbed for biotech innovation and startups.

Global leadership in environmental research and solutions

With a legacy of academic leadership in environmental disciplines and world-class interdisciplinary hubs on and off campus, Boulder has long been at the forefront of climate and environmental science. The Cooperative Institute for Research in Environmental Sciences (CIRES)—a joint institute of CU Boulder and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA)—and the Institute for Arctic and Alpine Research (INSTAAR) are just two of the many entities that provide research, training and hands-on opportunities for students, faculty, industry and anyone who is passionate about environmental science.

Secret Sauce: CU Boulder, national labs and a thriving entrepreneurial community

The unique combination of a world-class research university, 33 federal labs in Colorado, and a thriving ecosystem of industry-leading companies and startups provides a wealth of research and innovation opportunities for students, faculty and the community.

One example: JILA, a joint research institute of CU Boulder and the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST); the No. 2 graduate program in atomic, molecular and optical physics; established global leaders like Lockheed Martin and Boeing; and CU Boulder startups like ColdQuanta. These elements combine to offer a wide variety of opportunities in research, education and training for the next-generation quantum workforce.

Research institutes and centers

CU Boulder's 12 research institutes and 75+ research centers serve as interdisciplinary focal points for research, education and collaboration. From renowned hubs like the Renée Crown Wellness Institute and the Renewable and Sustainable Energy Institute (RASEI) to centers like the Center for African and African American Studies and the Center for National Security Initiatives, institutes and centers bring together students, faculty, and industry and government partners to discover, innovate and develop world-changing solutions.

Camila Uzcategui and Johnny Hergert

Novel 3D printing for life sciences

Camila Uzcategui (MMatSci'18; PhD'21) and Johnny Hergert (MMatSci'18; PhD'21) began collaborating on volumetric 3D printing technology in the Materials Science & Engineering Program. After years of research and experimentation, they worked with Venture Partners at CU Boulder to co-found Vitro3D to speed the technical advancement of their innovations. Their growing startup company is accelerating toward their goal of using the technology in dental applications, 3D cell culture for drug development, and scaffolds for human organ and tissue regeneration.

Steven Dourmashkin

Turning color into music

Steven Dourmashkin (far left), an aerospace engineering graduate student, launched Specdrums, app-connected rings people wear on their fingers that turn color into sound. With the app, users assign musical notes and sounds to specific colors. Tapping the ring on a color plays the designated sound. People can use Specdrums' database of sounds or record their own sounds to create a short musical piece. Specdrums won the the CU Boulder New Venture Challenge and was acquired by toymaker Sphero.

Homecoming

CU Boulder's homecoming festivities bring students, alumni, faculty, staff and community members together each fall to celebrate CU Boulder and generate campus spirit and pride. Buffs can reunite with the memories, people and places that made their CU experience special. colorado.edu/homecoming

Conference on World Affairs

Held each spring, CWA brings together an eclectic mix of entrepreneurs, artists, scientists, activists, journalists, philosophers and policymakers to engage in lively dialogue on the central issues of our time. CWA is open to the public and admission is free. colorado.edu/cwa

Leo Hill Leadership Speaker Series

This annual event brings recognized leaders from multiple fields to campus, where they share their leadership development, growth and advice with our students and local community. # THE COLORADO CREED

The Colorado Creed is a social responsibility code started by students in 2003. It is run by students and is for all of the CU and Boulder community. It is a way of life and a reminder to act with honor, integrity and respect. The Creed is CU when we are at our best.

The Colorado Creed serves as a reminder to:

ACT WITH HONOR, INTEGRITY AND ACCOUNTABILITY IN INTERACTIONS
WITH STUDENTS, FACULTY, STAFF
AND NEIGHBORS

RESPECT THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS
AND ACCEPT OUR DIFFERENCES

CONTRIBUTE TO THE GREATER GOOD
